

Andy Mirchin Celebrates an Amazing 35 Years at Paraco!

Andy Mirchin, Regional Sales Manager, celebrated a very distinctive 35-year anniversary October 8, 2019! Loyal, valued and dedicated, Andy has played a vital role in the success of our company and has worked very hard for all his accomplishments throughout the years. In honor of Andy's amazing achievement, and in observance of his 35th year in our Paraco family, we share some thoughtful quotes of praise and appreciation:

Joe Armentano: "When Andy started with the company 35 years ago, Ronald Reagan was the President of the United States and Mark Zuckerberg, creator of Facebook was born. Andy has seen it all and done it all at Paraco. His commitment to our company and family business has been truly remarkable. Andy has always put the company first, and over the years has had different roles depending on the needs of the business. Over the many years, he has always been a vital contributor to Paraco's success. Please join me in congratulating Andy and saying thanks. Keep smiling, Andy -- looking forward to many years to come! "

Art Ravo: "I first met Andy when we were competing in the Industrial Gas business. He was the first salesperson that gave us a run for our money when it came to servicing customers. We even tried to convince him to work for us instead of against us. Andy has always been very customer centric...sometimes to a fault 🤪"

Christina Armentano: "You bring first-class professionalism, determination and passion to this organization. Not a day goes by that we are not appreciative of your dedication. Congratulations on 35 years of service!"

Stu Soycher: "Knowing Andy for over 50 years. Even back then, you knew that Andy would be successful at whatever he chose to do in life."

Charlie Buonincontri: "Well what can I say about Andy... SO much! Over my 16 years at Paraco, Andy has become a good friend and a great mentor who has helped me in my personal career. He is truly an inspirational person who can connect with people and get them comfortable with him within minutes; truly a trait of a great Professional. Well respected by all who know him, Andy does a great job motivating his team. He is truly a compassionate, motivated leader. He has always helped push me to exceed the goals that were given to me whether he knew it or not. We have since worked so well together, have collaborated on many great projects for Paraco, and though we don't always agree with each other; we come to great conclusions. I look forward to our early morning calls to bounce things off each other (we always see who can call the earliest in the morning first). Andy, here is to many more years working together; my friend, my mentor, and my consigliere. Congratulations for making it so many years, not only in this industry but for the same company -- truly monumental".

Happy Anniversary, Andy!!
